(2) Where a minor has been admitted to a mental health establishment under section 96 and attains the age of eighteen years during his stay in the mental health establishment, the medical officer in charge of the mental health establishment shall classify him as an independent patient under section 95 and all provisions of this Act as applicable to independent patient who is not minor, shall apply to such person.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, a mental health professional may prevent discharge of a person admitted as an independent person under section 95 for a period of twenty-four hours so as to allow his assessment necessary for admission under section 98 if the mental health professional is of the opinion that—

(2) The admission of a person with mental illness to a mental health establishment under this section shall be limited to a period of thirty days.

(3) At the end of the period mentioned under sub-section (2), or earlier, if the person no longer meets the criteria for admission as stated in sub-section (1), the patient shall no longer remain in the establishment under this section.

(4) On the expiry of the period of thirty days referred to in sub-section (2), the person may continue to remain admitted in the mental health establishment in accordance with the provisions of section 99.

The concerned Board shall review the decision of the medical officer or psychiatrist in charge of the mental health establishment and give its findings thereon within seven days of receipt of request for such review which shall be binding on all the concerned parties.

Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, it shall be the duty of the medical officer or psychiatrist in charge of the mental health establishment to keep the condition of the person with mental illness admitted under this section on going review.

If the medical officer or psychiatrist in charge of the mental health establishment is of the opinion that the conditions specified under sub-section (1) are no longer applicable, he shall terminate the admission under this section, and inform the person and his nominated representative accordingly.

Non applicability of conditions referred to in sub-section (13) shall not preclude the person with mental illness remaining as an independent patient.

In a case, a person with the mental illness admitted under this section has been discharged, such person shall not be readmitted under this section within a period of seven days from the date of his discharge.

In case a person referred to in sub-section (15) requires readmission within a period of seven days referred to in that sub-section, such person shall be considered for readmission in accordance with the provisions of section 99.

If the medical officer or psychiatrist in charge of the mental health establishment is of the opinion that the person with mental illness admitted under this section in the mental health establishment requires or is likely to require further treatment beyond the period of thirty days, then such medical officer or psychiatrist shall be duty bound to refer the matter to be examined by two psychiatrists for his admission beyond thirty days.

If a person with mental illness admitted under section 98 requires continuous admission and treatment beyond thirty days or a person with mental illness discharged under sub-section (15) of that section requires readmission within seven days of such discharge, he shall be admitted in accordance with the provisions of this section.

The medical officer or psychiatrist in charge of a mental health establishment, upon application by the nominated representative of a person with mental illness, shall continue admission of such person with mental illness, if—

(a) two psychiatrists have independently examined the person with mental illness in the preceding seven days and both independently conclude based on the examination and, on information provided by others that the person has a mental illness of a severity that the person—

(i) has consistently over time threatened or attempted to cause bodily harm to himself; or

(ii) has consistently over time behaved violently towards another person or has consistently over time caused another person to fear bodily harm from him; or

(b) both psychiatrists, after taking into account an advance directive, if any, certify that admission to a mental health establishment is the least restrictive care option possible under the circumstances; and

(c) the person continues to remain ineligible to receive care and treatment as an independent patient as the person cannot make mental health care and treatment

(6) In all cases of application for readmission or continuance of admission of a person with mental illness in the mental health establishment under this section, the Board may require the medical officer or psychiatrist in charge of treatment of such person with mental illness to submit a plan for community based treatment and the progress made, or likely to be made, towards realising this plan.

(7) The person referred to in sub-section (4) shall not be permitted to continue in the mental health establishment in which he had been admitted or his readmission in such establishment merely on the ground of non-existence of community based services at the place where such person ordinarily resides.

(8) The admission of a person with mental illness to a mental health establishment under this section shall be limited to a period up to ninety days in the first instance.

(9) The admission of a person with mental illness to a mental health establishment under this section beyond the period of ninety days may be extended for a period of one hundred and twenty days at the first instance and thereafter for a period of one hundred and eighty days each time after complying with the provisions of sub-sections (1) to (7).

(10) If the Board refuses to permit admission or continuation thereof or readmission under sub-section (9), or on the expiry of the periods referred to in sub-section (9) or earlier if such person no longer falls within the criteria for admission under sub-section (1), such person shall be discharged from such mental health establishment.

person in such establishment and the decision of the Board thereon shall be binding on all parties.

(15) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, if the medical officer or psychiatrist in charge of the mental health establishment is of the opinion that the conditions under sub-section (1) are no longer applicable, such medical officer or psychiatrist shall discharge such person from such establishment and inform such person and his nominated representative accordingly.

(6) If the person with mental illness and his nominated representative feel that continued admission in the mental health establishment is not necessary, then, such person and his nominated representative shall communicate the same to the medical officer or psychiatrist in charge of the mental health establishment, who shall formally discharge such person from the mental health establishment.

(7) If the medical officer or psychiatrist in charge of the mental health establishment has reason to believe that the person requires ongoing admission to a mental health establishment and the nominated representative agrees with the assessment of such medical officer or psychiatrist, and such person with mental illness refuses to return to the hospital on expiry of leave or cancellation of his leave of absence, the medical officer or the psychiatrist in charge of the mental health establishment shall report to the Police Officer in charge of the police station within the limits of whose jurisdiction the mental health establishment is situated, to convey the person to the mental health establishment.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities, which was ratified by the Government of India in October, 2007, made it obligatory on the Government to align the policies and laws of the country with the Convention. The need for amendments to the Mental Health Act, 1987 was felt by the fact that the related law, i.e., the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 was also in the process of amendment. The Mental Health Act, 1987 could not protect the rights of persons with mental illness and promote their access to mental health care in the country.

2. In light of above, it is proposed to bring in a new legislation by repealing the Mental Health Act, 1987, and—

(a) Recognising that:

(i) Persons with mental illness constitute a vulnerable section of society and are subject to discrimination in our society;

(ii) Families bear financial hardship, emotional and social burden of providing treatment and care for their relatives with mental illness;

(iii) Persons with mental illness should be treated like other persons with health problems and the environment around them should be made conducive to facilitate recovery, rehabilitation and full participation in society;

(iv) The Mental Health Act, 1987 was insufficient to protect the rights of persons with mental illness and promote their access to mental health care in the country;

(b) And in order to:

(i) Protect and promote the rights of persons with mental illness during the delivery of health care in institutions and in the community;

(ii) Ensure health care, treatment and rehabilitation of persons with mental illness, is provided in the least restrictive environment possible, and in a manner that does not intrude on their rights and dignity. Community-based solutions, in the vicinity of the person’s usual place of residence, are preferred to institutional solutions;

(iii) Provide treatment, care and rehabilitation to improve the capacity of the person to develop his or her full potential and to facilitate his or her integration into community life;

(iv) Fulfil the obligations under the Constitution and the obligations under various International Conventions ratified by India;

(v) Regulate the public and private mental health sectors within a rights framework to achieve the greatest public health good;

(vi) Improve accessibility to mental health care by mandating sufficient provision of quality public mental health services and non-discrimination in health insurance;

(vii) Establish a mental health system integrated into all levels of general health care; and

(viii) Promote principles of equity, efficiency and active participation of all stakeholders in decision making.

3. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects.

There is no easy way of estimating the full financial burden likely to be incurred if all the provisions of the proposed legislation if enacted were implemented in such a manner that all persons requiring such services were to be covered. However, some of these tasks are currently funded through approved plan schemes in selected districts which the Central Government intends to extend to the entire country in the XIIth Plan period. Some tasks which are currently not funded by the Central Government and which would be necessary should the proposed legislation be enacted, are also proposed to be funded through Plan schemes. Funding through Plan schemes for the implementation of the proposed legislation would need to continue in subsequent Plan periods also. Provisioning for health is not a one-time activity. Since health is a State subject under the Constitution, it is also expected that over time, the States will also contribute substantially to the implementation of programmes for the promotion of mental health and care and treatment of persons with mental illness, thereby, contributing to the implementation of the provisions of the Bill. However, the expenditure, whether recurring or non recurring, will be met out of the Consolidated Fund of India or Consolidated Fund of the concerned State.
