Access to education is of utmost importance in insuring advancement of persons belonging to the Scheduled-Castes, the Scheduled Tribes, and the socially and educationally backward classes of citizens, who are also referred to as the Other Backward Classes (OBCs).

2. The Constitution (93rd Amendment) Act, 2005, inserted clause (5) in article 15 of the Constitution, with a view to promote the educational advancement of the socially and educationally backward classes of citizens, the Scheduled Castes and the Scheduled Tribes through special provisions relating to admission of students belonging to these categories in all educational institutions, including private educational institutions, whether aided or unaided by the State. In terms of this provision, Parliament as well as the State Legislatures are empowered to make appropriate laws for the educational advancement of the weaker sections of the people.

3. With a view to give effect to the Constitutional provisions, it is expedient and necessary to make statutory provisions in the proposed Bill for reservation in matters of admissions for the students belonging to the Scheduled Castes (SCs), the Scheduled Tribes (STs) and the socially and educationally backward classes of citizens (OBCs) in the Central Educational Institutions, including Institutions deemed to be Universities established, maintained or aided by the Central Government. The provisions of the proposed Bill, inter alia, will not apply to the minority educational institutions referred to in clause (I) of article 30.

4. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objective.

NEW DELHI;
The 23rd August, 2006.

ARJUN SINGH.
FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Though, it may not be possible to quantify the financial requirement on this account at this stage, whatever be the expenditure, it would be met from the Consolidated Fund of India through Budgetary provision under the Department of Higher Education, Ministry of Human Resource Development.

The Bill does not involve any other expenditure.
Sub-clause (g) of clause 2 of the Bill defines the expression “Other Backward Classes” so as to mean the class or classes of citizens who are socially and educationally backward and are so determined by the Central Government. Sub-clause (j) of clause 2 empowers the Central Government to notify other branches of study.

2. Proviso to sub-clause (b) of clause 4 empowers the Central Government to amend, as and when considered necessary, the Schedule to the Bill, containing the names of the institutions of excellence, research institutions of national and strategic importance. Sub-clause (d) of clause 4 empowers the Central Government to specify the courses or programmes at high levels of specialisation, including at the post-doctoral level, to which the provisions of the Bill shall not apply.

3. Clause 5 empowers the Central Educational Institutions to increase the number of seats in a branch of study or faculty with the prior approval of the appropriate authority; and provides that the Central Government may, in consultation with the appropriate authority, permit, by notification, the Central Educational Institutions to increase the annual permitted strength over a maximum period of three years in certain exigency.

4. Clause 7 provides that every notification made under this Bill shall be laid before both the Houses of Parliament.

5. All the matters in respect of which notifications may be made are matters of procedure and administrative detail and it is not practicable to provide for them in the Bill itself. The delegation of legislative power is, therefore, of a normal character.
